Hints to Remember

Who: IIT Madras

What: tied up with American conglomerate General Electric to set up India's first Cold Spray SMART lab

When: published on 5th April 2019

The Indian Institute of Technology, Madras (IIT-M) on Friday announced its collaboration with American conglomerate General Electric (GE) to set up a lab that will develop advanced services technology for aircraft engine components.

The 'Cold Spray' SMART (Surface Modification and Additive Research Technologies) Laboratory is the first-of-its-kind being installed in any academic institute in India.

It is an emerging technology for advanced manufacturing and services and will be utilised to co-develop processes for aero-engine applications.

"Cold spray technology is different from other widely used thermal spray processes in that there is no melting and oxidation of powders. Thus, high quality coatings can be produced," Professor M. Kamaraj from the IIT, said in a statement.
