Hints to Remember

Who: Facebook

What: has introduced a new feature titled “Why Am I seeing this post”

When: published on 1st April 2019

Facebook has introduced a new feature titled “Why am I seeing this post” to help users understand and control the kind of posts surfacing on their News Feed from friends, Pages and Groups.

“This means you’ll be able to tap on posts and ads in News Feed, get context on why they’re appearing and take action to further personalise what you see,” Ramya Sethuraman, Product Manager, Facebook wrote in a blog post.

Following scandals surrounding the social networking giant on misusing user-information for ad targeting, this feature comes as Facebook’s first step to explain to users exactly how the News Feed gets personalised on the platform.

Hints to Remember

Who: Australia

What: concluded a seven nation Indian Ocean military exercise in Sri Lanka

When: published on 15th March 2019

Australia will launch a seven-nation Indian Ocean military exercise next week, starting in Sri Lanka where China has invested in strategic ports and loaned huge amounts to build other infrastructure, AFP reports.

Some 1,000 Australian security personnel in four naval ships and a military aircraft will participate in the biggest joint exercise yet with their Sri Lankan counterparts, Canberra's top envoy in Colombo, Jon Philp, said.

"Sri Lanka and Australia are increasingly like-minded on maritime security and Indian Ocean issues," Philp said, adding that the two countries will improve defense cooperation and familiarity with each other's defense forces.

Australian forces will move to India on March 26 and thereafter travel to Malaysia, Thailand, Vietnam, Indonesia and Singapore before returning to Darwin after two and a half months.

The joint exercise comes as concerns grow over Beijing's influence on Sri Lanka's economy and Chinese control over two key ports. The largest single lender to Sri Lanka, China has also secured contracts to build roads, railways and ports.

Hints to Remember

Who: World Autism Awareness Day

What: was observed across the world with the theme “Assistive Technologies, Active Participation”

When: published on 2nd April 2019

2nd April is the World Autism Awareness Day. The day is observed every year to raise public awareness of autism. This year the theme of the Day is Assistive Technologies, Active Participation.

Autism is a brain disorder that typically affects a person's ability to communicate with others. It generally begins in childhood and last through adulthood. Autism Day highlights the need to help and improve the quality of life of those with autism so that they can lead full and meaningful lives as an integral part of society.

This year’s observance underscores the importance of affordable assistive technologies to support people with autism to live independent lives and, indeed, to exercise their basic human rights.

Who: The Earth Hour for 2019

What: was observed with the theme of "Connect2Earth"

When: published on 30th March 2019

Earth Hour returns today as people, communities, and businesses around the world turn off the non-essential electric lights for one hour, from 8:30pm to 9:30pm, to show their commitment to the planet. Like every year, Earth Hour 2019 falls on the last Saturday of the March. It is not a simultaneous event and the Earth Hour time depends on your local time, and the participants around the world will switch off lights when it is 8:30pm in their local time. Read on to find out everything that you need to know about Earth Hour.

This year's Earth Hour theme is #Connect2Earth. "Earth Hour 2019 with its campaign '#Connect2Earth' aims to build mass awareness on why nature is important and create an unstoppable movement for nature similar to when the world came together to tackle climate change," wrote Sid Das, Director of Digital Engagement, WWF International, in a blog post.

Hints to Remember

Who: US

What: approves sale of 24 MH 60 Romeo Seahawk helicopters to India for $2.4 bn

When: published on 3rd April 2019

The US has approved the sale of 24 multi-role MH-60R Seahawk maritime helicopters to India at an estimated cost of USD 2.6 billion, the State Department has announced, boosting the Indian Navy's anti-surface and anti-submarine warfare operations as China expands its presence in the Indian Ocean.

Designed for hunting submarines as well as knocking out ships and conducting search-and-rescue operations at sea, the Lockheed Martin-built helicopters, would replace India's aging fleet of British-made Sea King helicopters.

The Trump Administration on Tuesday notified the Congress that it has approve sale of 24 MH-60R multi-mission helicopters, which will provide the Indian defence forces the capability to perform anti-surface and anti-submarine warfare missions.

Hints to Remember

Who: UAE

What: announced new process of visa facilitation for expat families

When: published on 3rd April 2019

UAE Cabinet has announced that a new process of visa facilitation will take into account salary of the expat workers, rather than job title to sponsor their immediate family member to come and stay with them.

In a tweet, the UAE government said that the Cabinet has approved new facilitation for expats sponsoring family members and reaffirms UAE's position as a hub for talents and the land of opportunities.

A statement by the General Secretariat of the Cabinet stated that the amended provisions now indicate income as a requirement for sponsoring family members, as opposed to the previously listed professions which allowed workers to sponsor their families. The amendment is in line with international developments and accordance with best practices, it added.
